From our Chief Pharmacist

Dear Corporate Partners and Friends,

In 2026, the TerryWhite Chemmart Corporate Health Program continues to grow in response to Australia's increasing demand for accessible, preventative healthcare. With pharmacists continuing to be recognised as trusted frontline health professionals, our expanding scope reflects a national shift toward more convenient, community-based care. This program is designed to support the wellbeing of your workforce year-round – wherever they live and work.

TerryWhite Chemmart is proud to be Australia's leading community pharmacy provider of vaccinations, delivering professional healthcare across our network of 600+ pharmacies. The rising trust in pharmacists highlights their vital role in delivering safe, accessible services, building a healthier, more resilient workforce – especially during peak seasons for respiratory illness.

Since expanding our Corporate Flu Voucher Program in 2024 to include individuals aged 5 to 64, we've continued to grow our service offering throughout 2025. This includes a range of vaccinations and our highly sought after Health Check service, available year-round as standalone services. We understand every business is different. That's why our program offers customisable solutions to meet the unique health needs of your workforce – whether aligning with industry standards or supporting your operational goals.

For organisations seeking greater visibility and insight, our optional Corporate Health Plus add-on provides access to transparent booking data, empowering you with actionable information to optimise health engagement across your teams.

Thank you for choosing TerryWhite Chemmart as your trusted health partner. Together, let's continue building healthier workplaces and communities across Australia.

Yours in health,
